Reflection.

Reflection on the Gospel- 27th Sunday in Ordinary Time Year A, 8 October 2017 (Matthew 21:33-43)

Our contemporary sensibilities in relation to slavery invite a new reading of texts such as this gospel parable that critiques the power that some exercise over others, writes Sister Veronica Lawson rsm.

While the international community has long since outlawed slavery, we have become increasingly aware of the persistence of a lucrative global industry structured around the sexual and labour enslavement of vulnerable people. Groups such as MGA (Mercy Global Action) and ACRATH (Australian Catholic Religious Against Trafficking of Humans) are taking action on behalf of those enslaved. Today's gospel features a parable about an absentee landowner with slaves to do his bidding. Commentators focus on almost every aspect of this parable: the landowner, the tenants, the fate of the "servants" and of the landowner's son, the interpretive comments that Jesus offers the chief priests and elders to whom the parable is addressed, the prophetic inter-texts and the allegorical elements in the text. Few consider the role or the fate of the slaves as slaves in the parable. Our contemporary sensibilities in relation to slavery invite a new reading of such texts, a reading that at the very least critiques the power that some in the Earth community exercise over others.

The frequent translation of the Greek doulos as "servant" rather than as "slave" masks the underlying reality that some members of the community, even within the circle of believers gathered at the Eucharistic table, were actually the property of others in the community. The fact is that nobody in the ancient world, not even Jesus of Nazareth, questioned this situation. It is not surprising, therefore, that the slaves in today's parable are considered by the "tenants" to be dispensable. Their role is to collect the produce from the harvest on behalf of the absentee landowner.

We can surmise that the "tenants" have legitimate grievances against the landowner. They clearly have no intention of parting with any portion of the produce, presumably the tax imposed on them as a condition of their tenancy. They react violently when confronted by the three slaves who are the landowner's emissaries. They beat one slave, kill another and stone yet another. Their treatment of the slaves is an implicit acknowledgement that the slaves represent the landowner whose demands they refuse to meet. The landowner risks the lives of other slaves by sending yet another and bigger delegation. This second group of emissaries meets the same fate as their predecessors. Finally, the landowner sends his own son in the expectation that the tenants will show him the respect they have denied the slaves, his property. In fact, the son receives the same treatment as the slaves. He too is dispensable from the perspective of those wanting to seize "the inheritance", those wishing to take control of the vineyard for their own purposes. As we reflect on gospel stories that take slavery for granted, we might commit ourselves to eliminating all exercise of power over others or over any "vineyard" entrusted to our care.

Parish Pastoral Council.

The future installation of some audio visual solution (eg. screens, monitors, etc) in the Church is becoming more necessary as the Archdiocese's communications & media is increasingly delivered in an electronic form. This could be seen as a Care for Creation initiative – we reduce our use of paper – we are taking further steps to respect our Planet. Change is all around us – in our Church, in our Schools, in our work places, in our community, in our homes, in everything we do. It is a personal challenge to keep up with it – but it is also our personal challenge to raise our voice if some changes are not good for the human spirit/soul. If you have any ideas or concerns within the Parish please raise them with your pastoral councillors personally or alternatively send an email to bridge@bne.catholic.net.au with a heading 'For the attention of the Pastoral Council'. Next Meeting 9/10.

Vocation Views.

An employer would probably fire any employee who never does the job properly. God's plan calls us to live our vocation daily, in the best way we can.

Prayer Blog - 'Our Parish Year of Prayer 2017'.

Please check the latest Parish Blog updates on our website and on the board near the Sacristy. www.stiosephsbrackenridge.com/blog This week we have published a prayer reflection from the Men's Prayer Group. God of Holy Dreaming, Great Creator Spirit, From the dawn of Creation, You have given Your children the good things of Mother Earth. You spoke and the gum trees grew.

In the vast desert and dense forest, in cities at the water's edge, Creation sings praise. Your presence endures as the rock at the heart of the Earth.

When Jesus hung on the tree, You heard the cries of all Your people and became one of Your wounded ones, the convicts, the hunted and the dispossessed.

The sunrise of Your Son coloured the Earth anew and bathed it in glorious hope.

In Jesus, we have been reconciled to You, to each other and to Your whole Creation.

Lead us on, Great Spirit, as we gather from the four corners of the Earth.

Enable us to walk together in trust from the hurt and shame of the past into the full day which has dawned in Jesus Christ.

Amen.

From Saint Gerard Majella.

In the room prepared for him in his final months of life, Gerard had written on the door in large letters:

"Here the will of God is done, as God wills it to be done and for as long as God wills it to be done".
